Scholarly Research Paper from the year 2012 in the subject Business economics - Business Management, Corporate Governance, grade: 1,7, AKAD University of Applied Sciences Stuttgart (Wirtschaftsinformatik), course: FGI03, language: English, abstract: In the Course Book 1 Reader of this Leadership Course we can read: "Development is always self-development. Nothing could be more absurd than for the enterprise to assume responsibility for the development of a person. The responsibility rests with individuals, their abilities, their efforts." Based on this statement, this assignment deals with the process of self-development and the methods by which this process can be supported and performed. In times of dynamically and fast changing requirements in a rapidly changing world, it is becoming increasingly important for all people to improve skills and acquire new skills. Therefore, the need for self-development is increasing more and more. This assign-ment will give an overview of the topic of self-development with its process and method-oids.

Trends in economic development rely on increasing human knowledge, which stimulate the development of new, sophisticated technologies. With their utilization production is raised and the intent is to decrease natural resources consumption and protect and save our life environment as much as we can. At the same time, increasing pressure is observed both from competition and customers. The way to be competitive is by improving manufacturing and services offered to the customer. These are the major challenges of contemporary enterprises. Organizations are improving their activities and management processes. This is necessary to manage the seemingly intensifying competitive markets successfully. Enterprises apply business-optimizing solutions to meet new challenges and conditions. This way ensuring effective development for long-term competitiveness in a global environment. This is necessary for the implementation of qualitative changes in the industrial policy. "Process Control and Production Management" (MTS 2018) is a collection of research papers from an international authorship. The authors present case studies and empirical research, which illustrates the progressive trends in business process management and the drive to increase enterprise sustainability development.
